WEST CHESTER FAIR IS PROVING HUGE SUCCESS THIS YEAR

Record Crowds Have Been in Attendance at the Grounds—Exhibits Attract Lots of Attention.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 17 .- This s the big day at the fair of the Chester County Argicultural Association and the attendance is even greater than was ex-pected. Last year, the same day, there were about 8000 persons on the ground, but the number today exceeds that by a considerable figure. Good weather has prevailed on every day of the exhibition, and even if rain falls tomorrow the organization will have cleared more noney than at any exhibition it has held ince it was formed.

judges of cattle have about completed their work and are summing up the results, as are those of other ex-hibits, including the poultry. Those havcharge of making awards in the horse show, the big feature of the fair, which is under the management of R. Fenn Smith, commenced their work today and will complete looking over the ani-mals tomorrow. Among the exhibits are some of the finest ever seen in this place, and all classes are well contested. The big race of the fair is to be staged is afternoon, when Joe Boy, the fast est Chester entry, and Pickles, his rival, longing to James Bell, of Philadelphia, set in the free-for-all. Other races on card are the 2:21 trot, 2:19 pace and Nine Hundred and Fortyfive Horses and Ponies in Ninety-nine Clases to Be Judged September 21.

Analysis of the entry lists for the Bryn Mawr Horse Show, to be held Septem-ber 21, emphasizes the fact that this 20th carnival event will far exceed in siz and importance any previous exhibition. There are 345 horses and ponies entered, comparing with a previous record of 825. When the post entries in the variou classes in which such entries are accepted will be added, the total should be well over 1000.

Over 1000.
Of the total of 99 classes, 36 are for hunters and jumpers, and in these classes there are 33 entries. In other years the number of entries in any one class never exceeded 35, but this year the jumping class for green hunters has 46 entries, the jumping class, open to all, has 43 entries, jumping class, open to all, has 43 entries, and two other jumping classes have 38 entries each.

In the 24 classes for harness horses there are 119 horses entered, and in the 18 classes for saddle horses the entries total 169. The many new classes arranged for penies, 10 in all, have attracted a record number of 86 entries. BACK FIELD DEVELOPMENT TASK FOR PENN COACHES

Football Experts Concentrating all Thought and Energy Along Those Lines-Harvard, Dartmouth and Cornell Favored in This Respect, as 1913 Quartets are Intact.

By EDWARD R. BUSHNELL While the coaches at Franklin Field are oncentrating all their thought and onergy upon the development of a groundgaining back field, Harvard, Dartmouth and Cornell are giving thanks that their veteran back field quartets of 1913 are intact, and promise to be better this year than ever. While these universities have gether, the Quakers must fill every one ought to be greatly increased this year, has if such a quartet could do more deadly execution than that wrought by Brickley, Mahan, Logan and Bradlee. About all Head Coach Percy Haughton has to do sible change could strengthen this group. knows how wonderfully Brickley can drop and place kick, run the ends and buck the line; how Mahan can punt, run back kicks and sprint around end; how Bradlee can hit the line, and Logan run the team. But Pennsylvania men are probably more interested in the strength of Dart-mouth and Cornell behind the line be-cause the Quakers have to play both of these teams. Dartmouth is every whit as well fortified here as Harvard. Last year Liewellyn and Ghee alternated at quarterback, but Ghee was the better man. Liewellyn has graduated, leaving Ghee in full charge. Dartmouth's other three backs are on hand again. These include Captain Whitney and Curtis at the halfback positions, and Murdock at fullback. There isn't much to choose between the Dartmouth and Harvard back fields. That indicates how strong Dart-mouth is. In some respects Whitney is a better player than Brickley, every bit as fast, and as a line Only in kicking is Brickley his superior Ghee is a better man to operate the forward pass than Logan. Likewise he runs his team faster and is a better individual player. Mahan is superior to Curtis, but there is nothing to choose between Murdock, of Dartmouth, and Bradlee, of Harvard. But think what a load is taken from the minds of the Dartmouth coaches when they realize that they now have a back field which can't be improved! to improve his back field, but he will be pretty well fortified even if he decides to stand pat on his present quartette, which did so much to win from Pennsylvania last year. Last year's back field was made up of Barrett at quarterback, Coll. Jack Dalton, all-American quarterback yer and Philipi at halfbacks and Lahr at on the Navy team, was out today to fullback. Great Improvement Shown by Griffith, Newcomb and Sloan Puts Them in Line for Amateur Singles Championship.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 17 .- Interest centres here today on the amateur championship at singles in the Eighth Annual Tournament of the Westy Hegans. Without exception, this meeting has brought together the pick of the shooting fraternity in the country, and perfect scores will doubtless only figure in the major awards. Conditions are in the major awards. Conditions are ideal again today for the trap shooters, and early rounds in this competition fore-casted great shooting.

Woolfolk Henderson, national amateur woodlolk Henderson, national amateur champion at both singles and doubles, of Kentucky, looms up at the top of the field. He will have no mean task here, however, with the old cracks that are appearing from every squad. Jesse Griffith, of Philadelphia, has been credited with the best performance to date in his record of 99 breaks out of his century allotment in the State race yesterday. Charley Newcomb likewise seems day. Charley Newcomb likewise seems to be rounding into his old-time form, and Harry H. Sloan also promises to hold up the Philadelphia end.
